Better Be Safe than Sorry

A man told me a story a short while back about another man who would not carry fire insurance on his home, but all of a sudden he changed his mind and decided to take out a policy, but while he was gone, and before he received his policy, his house burned. Fire insurance cost such a trifle you cannot afford to go without it.

West Virginia Briefs

FAIRMONT: A petition signed by fifty residents of Fairview district, this county, asking the county court to call a special session to decide the matter of $300,000 for the permanent improvement of twenty-two miles of road in the district, has been deposited with the prosecuting attorney for presentation to the court when it meets Tuesday, February 5 is the date suggested in the petition.

WHEELING: Following the receipt of a postcard at the Wheeling postoffice from M. Lapenna, B. 43, S. Company, Belgian Army, M. Lapenna, Europe, saying he was long overdue in correspondence with some American girl, Wheeling society girls already have started letters, postcards and Christmas boxes to the long-lost Belgian.

CHARLESTON: Abandonment of extra passenger trains run on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad for the last several weeks and popularly known as "house specials" is said to be in prospect. These trains have been run for the accommodation of those carrying labeled tickets into West Virginia from states in which saloons are licensed. Such persons will be permitted to carry legally labeled intoxicants on the regular passenger trains.

FAIRMONT: Plans for a concrete bridge having a span of 100 feet long to extend across the Monongahela river, as provided by recent bond issue, were submitted to the city commissioners this week by William Messer, a consulting engineer of New York City. Such a span, it is said, would be the longest in the world.

CHARLESTON: Statements have been sent from the office of State Auditor John S. Tharst to oil, gas, water, light and power companies of the state showing the amount of taxes for 1917 each is to pay. The total for these utilities is $1,400,000. Oil and gas companies will have to pay 50c per barrel. Other public utilities are taxed to the sum of $2,000,000 for state, county and municipal purposes.

MOUNDSVILLE: Joe Orisk, blacksmith, befriended a stranger, permitting him to sleep in his shop. The man found in the shop this morning, and the man, "Thanks," and signed "Ed." Even his anyil had disappeared.

FAIRMONT: Resulting from the death of the late Allen Hentley, eight-year-old son of B. A. Hentley, an attorney, what is believed to have been infantile paralysis, the Elkins board of education has postponed the opening of the public schools in the city from January 3 to January 9. The Elkins board of health has established a quarantine prohibiting children from congregating in public places and providing for other measures.

CHARLESTON: A mill tax for the support of West Virginia University and other state educational institutions may be considered by the legislature. The legislature will make an effort to get a law passed which will provide for the same.

CHARLESTON: The new Masonic temple, one of the finest in West Virginia, will be opened here for the inspection of the public January 1.

CHARLESTON: In a statement issued from the state health department, the United States standard birth and death statistics for the year 1916 are given for West Virginia for the recordation of vital statistics. These new certificates are the ones recognized by other states and governments.

KENOVA: Police answering a burglar alarm at the home of John S. Thacker found a rooster trying to perch on the window sill.

CHARLESTON: The award of pensions to two widows and four children is announced from the workmen's compensation department. The beneficiaries are Mrs. Margaret Watkins, of Fairmont, and three children, $55 a month; Mrs. Julia M. Coyne, of Wheeling, and one child, $25 a month.

PARKERSBURG: The new Masonic temple, one of the finest in West Virginia, will be opened here for the inspection of the public January 1.

CHARLESTON: A certificate of incorporation has been issued by the secretary of state to the Verhoye Aid Association, Branch 209, of Elbert, McDowell county. There is authorized capital of $100,000. The purpose of the corporation is a fraternity for financial benefit of members. The incorporators are: Harry, Louis, Florio, Andy, Yuhass, Joe, Soltesz and Julius Szabo.

WHEELING: Forty-two Ohio county residents will face investigation next month (two) by federal agents. The Ohio county grand jury, as a result of a recent campaign against bootleggers in Wheeling and vicinity, the list was filed this afternoon.

CHARLESTON: When Henry H. Perry set forth two years ago to sail on the ocean liner, the ship was sold to the U. S. navy and when his ship, the Hancock, docked at Philadelphia a few days ago he hastened to claim his bride.

WHEELING: The Wellburg News, the only Democratic newspaper in Brooke county, has been sold by John C. Kerr to R. C. Cresswell, who will assume control of the paper January 1.

CHARLESTON: When A. S. Alexander was elected in November as judge of the common pleas court of Kanawha county, he indicated a vacancy in the membership of Anderson and McCabe, a prominent law firm here.

WHEELING: Judge Alexander was announced as new judge of the court, and it is understood that Fred O. Blue, tax commissioner of West Virginia, will not be re-elected with McCabe to the Kanawha county bench.
